PREFATORY NOTE.

OWING to the necessity of compiling the Catalogue largely from the entry forms, many of which were very incomplete, it has been impossible to make it satisfactory. In order to avoid, as much as possible, breaks in the consecutive arrangement of the numbers, the articles loaned are catalogued under separate headings of Portraits, Furniture, Military, Dress and Fancy Work, Educational, China and Silver, and Miscellaneous Beside these there are several smaller groups of exhibits, sub-headings under educational and Indian, or historical names and events.

This may not appear at first glance a satisfactory arrangement, but if the visitor will keep it in mind when looking up a number in the Catalogue it will be found less difficult to find than if the exhibits were numbered consecutively from beginning to end.

The intention of giving short paragraphs of history in connection with each exhibit has been found an impossible task. It will therefore be reserved for the catalogue of a permanent museum. The secretarians who have had the duty of preparing the Catalogue have discharged it to the best of their ability. They are sensible of the defects and incompleteness, but would ask the kind indulgence of the public, the charitable consideration of those who, having never attempted the compilation of a catalogue of the kind, can have but an indifferent conception of the difficulties amateurs at the work have to encounter.

174. MS. of "There's Nae Luck Aboot the House," in William Julius Meikle's handwriting, believed by J. Sims Meikle's literary executor to be the original sketch of the song. Durability in Pianos

IT is, of course, important that tone and touch should be the prime factors in the construction of a piano, but even these are useless unless the instrument will stand the enormous strain to which a piano is subjected.

For 27 years Mason & Risch pianos have been the favorite instruments in Canadian Colleges and schools. What better testimony could be offered to their lasting qualities.

BROWNIE BICYCLES

Are to Canada what BEESTON HUMBERS are to the world. Built to your highest ideal and down to your own price. A bicycle that really is what others claim theirs to be. The ideal hot-weather wheel. Over rough roads and up grades it shows its strength and vim, while on the smooth roads it requires hardly any effort. Nothing short of a collision will put it one iota out of order. Think of the worry saved and the pleasure of being "dead sure." Patent roller bearings, flanged sprockets, hardened pin and chain thoroughly dust-proof. The bearings throughout are made from the highest grade English tool steel, and are improvements on what is ordinarily called perfection. Just enough weight—more than enough strength—abounding with life—there is satisfaction in its every line. Finished superbly, the Brownie is a thing of beauty and a joy forever.
